Oh no! Not another Charlie Kirk article

Well no, much more than that, funny as well as relevant

Psyops all the way down

I know—another Charlie Kirk article. Try not to puke. However, I think his story can provide insight into Mossad-Deep State psychological operations as well as the trajectory of Western Civilization, and perhaps we can even have a bit of fun along the way.

Charlie Kirk was a psyop, in both life and death. At first glance, he looked like the standard astroturfed "Christian conservative" charged with leading a segment of the White demographic into the Palantir control grid abattoir. Kirk fit right in with the mediocrities who rise to the top of a kakistocracy. So why kill him?

First, a disclaimer. I'm not trashing the dead. I'm merely describing Kirk's role. My condolences to the Kirk family. I'm also not judging Kirk. I didn't pay his bills. High-status, moneyed, and power/authority positions in the West require fealty to ZioCorp. That includes everyone from senators to big-ticket influencers to the police.

I'm not going to delve into the mechanics of Kirk's assassination. This has been covered by alternative media outlets like The Grayzone, which linked his killing to Mossad. I think it's reasonable to conclude that the Kirk hit was the work of "Parallax View" professionals, which, when compared with earlier related incidents, leaves the Mossad and or the Mossad/Deep State as prime suspects. I don't buy the "lone lefty" theory.

When analyzing a psyop or false flag, it's best to stick to the K.I.S.S. rule. (keep it simple stupid- & no, I didn't make up that acronym). If a conspiracy theory contains too many moving parts or layers of complexity or relies on the silence of police departments, entire hospital staff, crisis actors, not to mention their friends and families, it might be going off track. A well-orchestrated operation should limit itself to the minimum number of essential planners and participants.

Plant a red flag in theories that involve space aliens, reptile men, cryogenic JFK, etc. I'm not saying those beings don't exist, but try to limit your analysis to what is currently provable under public-access science. If extraterrestrials who have mastered intergalactic space travel are running this, there's not much you can do about it anyway. Time travel theories should also be viewed with skepticism. Those familiar with the time traveler genre know that when you alter the currents of time, you either: a) realize you can't change destiny or b) create an equal or worse nightmare. For example, if you traveled back to 1913 to plant dynamite under the tracks of the train heading to Jekyll Island, rather than stop the Federal Reserve, you could come back as Janet Reno's vibrator.

The Cass Sunstein method of flooding the market with implausible conspiracy theories to contaminate plausible ones has become standard operating procedure. Like when 9/11 truthers argue over whether controlled demolitions or jet plane holograms and space lasers took down the towers. Over time, everything becomes diffused and blended together, rendering the event a meaningless abstraction. Like ZioCorp music industry rapper Dr. Dre said: "Keep their heads ringin'."

Jews seem to turn up in a lot of conspiracy theories. While Talmudic cellular memory runs deep, and excluding the opinion polls of brainwashed Jewish plebes, what percentage of the 7 million US Jews control the levers of power?

bottom up. A good AI program could easily identify those linked to financial slavery, fifth column activities, and organ trafficking, thus preventing the karmic blowback that comes with persecuting innocents. However, that would screw up the business model. 109 brought us to this point. 110 is really going to blow your mind. Anyway, I happen to think that there are some groovy Jews out there. But maybe I'm biased. Ha ha ha.

While skipping over the technical aspects of the Kirk assassination, I will provide a brief summary on motive. I'm obviously offering up conjecture, but in the age of fake AI video and when the corporate news media and policing agencies cover up rather than expose the crimes of power, conjecture is what you get.

Imagine we're in the last few pages of a Raymond Chandler story when the detective gives the big reveal. In the film version, I picture this as a Humphrey Bogart vehicle, so for optimal effect, I recommend reading the following in Bogart's voice:

Kirk, the pretty boy groomed to sell Zionism and BlackRock capitalism wrapped in the flag and "Christian values," ran into a problem. While his Gen Z followers might have been too dense to realize the game was rigged, some were at least bright enough to understand that a Mossad dictatorship was as beneficial to America as a bed bug infestation to the Waldorf Astoria.

With an eye on a leading-man role in a future Washington DC production and to not look like a total zio-shill, Kirk allowed mild criticism of the Israeli Lobby at his TPUSA conference. From a big-tent enrollment angle, it was a good idea. From Kirk's Zionist handlers' perspective, not so much. Kirk's banal act of maintaining organizational credibility was viewed as open insurrection by egomaniacs who see themselves as supermen destined to rule over a nation of chemically castrated and lobotomized Jimmy Olsens.

Kirk's killing was a message to all left and right astroturfed social media influencers: We made you and we can break you. No script deviations.

Once the decision was made to kill Kirk, the conservative half of the media machine was primed to propel him into martyrdom. And who killed this effete Horst Wessel zio-simulation? Hate speech. Lefty hate speech specifically. With logistical support from the trannies, of course.

It's the same old story. First they came for right hate speech. Then they came for left hate speech. By the time they came for me, everyone kept their mouth shut. Sure, I might be a $25-per-day plus expenses detective, but I read the Niemöller poem.

In life and death, Kirk provided fuel for the control grid engine. Sometimes a dead asset gets more miles per gallon than a live one.

Before leaving office, Oklahoma's state superintendent announced plans to mandate TPUSA chapters in every high school in the state. I guess Soros Foundation/Harvey Milk same-sex proms lost their panache. Back to "George Washington and the cherry tree," made possible by the generous campaign donations of Archer Daniels Midland, Raytheon, and AIPAC.

I have to admit, when I first took the case, I thought it was a dame. My eyes followed long shapely legs and dangerous curves that could send the most experienced driver sailing off the cliff, only to stop at the slight indent of a .22 semi-automatic tucked in the bottom of her designer purse. Her name was scribbled over this like a psycho broad's bathroom mirror lipstick message. But when I climbed down the manhole and followed the floating dead rat to the end of the line, I had to face the truth. 9/11, Iraq, COVID- the circumstances and players changed, but never the string pullers. It was ZioCorp. It was always ZioCorp. And once again, the people got taken like a gringo tourist who thought he found bar stool love but wound up with only a roofie hangover and his underwear.

Simulation Bogart left the room. It's me again.

Some psyops are universal in that they target the population equally, usually via the problem-solution/ fear-compliance model, e.g., 9/11, COVID. Others are primarily directed at specific ethno, identity, or ideological blocs, although through reaction/counter-reaction dispersion, the entire population suffers, often through draconian legislation.

I would argue that the conservative display of hyper-emotionality over Kirk's death was engineered. Excluding professional grifters, many of the psyop victims probably interpreted their feelings as genuine, as they are no longer capable of discerning real from unreal and thus suffer from an acute disconnection of self.

The main challenge for ZioCorp in marketing martyr Kirk is that the US public's attention span has been micro-metered, due in no small part to the constant bombardment of digital media stimuli and the dumb-down project. Martyr Kirk would need to be constantly repackaged and transmogrified into evolving states of hyperreality to keep him from slipping out of mass media consciousness.

The proposed Charlie Kirk hate-speech laws, ostensibly put in place to protect the feelings of conservatives, are a repackaging of the antisemitism hate-speech laws, which are a repackaging of his/her pronoun hate-speech laws, which are a repackaging of "protect the kids" internet censorship laws.

Speaking of kids, if you believe the oligarchy cares about children, you probably sign your name in finger paint. While I can't prove it, I suspect the ICE privatized children's prison network is an industrial-scale conduit for something really evil. Think about it- thousands upon thousands of kids permanently separated from their parents with no paper trail or documentation. Someone needs to investigate this. I'd look into it, but my reflexologist is balancing my chakras tomorrow. I'm joking. I don't have the resources, and any journalist who brought this to light would probably end up like Gary Webb, the reporter who broke the CIA/crack cocaine story, and, saddened by his discovery, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head- twice.

I digress. Let's stick to more obvious weather phenomena.

The rainbow flag psyop provides an excellent example of reaction/counter-reaction programming. As an aside, identity politics became necessary for the Democratic wing of the uniparty after they abandoned labor unions, the working class, and the poor.

First off, I have nothing against gay people. They used to put on wonderful theatrical productions and many are nice folks. I just think consenting adults should keep their activities private and not push them on the public, especially kids.

During the peak of the rainbow flag psyop, we watched straight anti-gay activists engage in intricately detailed online discussions on the horrors of gay sex for like 10 hours a day. I find that odd- unless you're really into gay sex. Imagine an incel* deprived of female contact taking part in this. Gay sex, gay sex, gay sex- all day, every day. One night, he decides to click the gay sex category button while visiting his regular porn site- to better study the enemy. Next thing you know, the poor bastard's driving to the Turnpike rest stop for his turn in line at the men's bathroom stall gloryhole.

From the reaction/counter-reaction perspective, the rainbow flag psyop was fantastically successful. It turned one side into open gays and their opponents into closet cases. ZioCorp won both ways: America became a f@ggit nation- no offense to the gay community. Obviously, I'm engaging in a bit of (hopefully) humorous hyperbole, but I think you get the point.

(*No offense to incels. It's a bad day if you're strolling the college campus when one shows up seeking revenge for the coeds who rejected him. I like incels. When I was coming up, we called them dorks. I went through a dork phase. I might still be in it. I just never dreamed that dorks would form a permanent socio-political class.)

Some psyops generate fear. Fear evaporates reason and induces compliance.

Let's explore a few fear-based psyops (and false flags, which often form an integral component of that psyop genre).

9/11: A guy in a turban bearing down on you with a 757 is a scary image. No wonder so many Americans agreed to replacing the Constitution with the Patriot Act. Anyway, it turned out invading Iraq was the right move, as we all now know Saddam Hussein was the brains behind Al-Qaeda and Baghdad Bob trained the 19 hijackers.

COVID: Hollywood taught us through a string of pre-pandemic killer-plague movies that the hot-off-the-press experimental vaccine always saves humanity. Good thing Bill Gates, Dr. Fauci, and Rochelle Walensky (to be played by Leonardo DiCaprio, George Clooney, and supermodel Gisele Bündchen) invented a real one.

Crime porn: I understand how muggers in dark alleys might convince some to welcome the occupation of their city by soldiers, tanks, drones, and killer robots. The US war machine maintained law and order in Baghdad's Green Zone, and it can do the same for Chicago, New York, and LA. What the bleeding heart libtards fail to understand is that the "war on crime" is a big part of US GDP- albeit a part funded by the taxpayer and debt creation. The "criminal justice business" feeds judges, prosecutors, lawyers, court reporters, police departments, alphabet agencies, bail bondsmen, collection services, news networks, and private prison corporations along with the small towns employed by and vendors that service them. It's a multi-trillion-dollar industry. That's why we need manufactured poverty and penal institutions designed to make prisoners more violent upon release. If you support the crackdown on crime, you also need to appreciate the necessity of creating crime, as both keep America's business engine humming.

The Trans psyop: First, they turn kids into transgenders. Then the transgenders beat women at sports. Next thing you know, the transgender kill-team-army is taking everyone out, e.g, the free-Palestine troubled transgender youth who hated Zionist Jews yet shot up a Catholic elementary school. Kirk assassin Tyler Robinson was not only a killer college lefty, but was also involved with a transgender- proof positive of the existence of an elite shemale hit squad.

Benjamin Franklin said, "Those who would give up essential liberty to purchase a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety."

While not often reported, when speaking at the Second Continental Congress, Franklin said in a similar statement: "If you're willing to surrender your fundamental rights and liberties so Big Daddy can protect you from an imaginary band of marauding shemales, you're probably a f*cktard or a f@g. Perhaps both. No offense to the gay community or the mentally challenged."

For the record, I think transgenderism is a real thing (excluding psyop-generated mentally ill men-in-wigs). On rare occasions, a female brain develops inside a male fetus via hormone sequence misfiring. In Tao, the ladyboy provides an archetype for male-female duality within the yin-yang circle and has co-existed peacefully within Asian cultures for millennia. Transgenders were and probably still are one of the most powerless and marginalized subcultures in the US. Turning them into a vehicle for transhuman acceptance and "America's greatest threat" was one of ZioCorp's zanier psyops. Prior to that, the main groups who focused on transgenderism were shemales, medical professors, and tranny chasers.

So where is this leading? To the collapse of Western Civilization. What do they intend on replacing it with? "The Kingdom of Hell on Earth," silly.

You can't maintain a sane society based on psyops, corruption, digital simulation, financial swindles, engineered mass migrations, and war. People need sustainable agriculture, infrastructure, sound ecological practices, education, ethical healthcare, a cohesive culture, and other critical elements. A ruling class that relies on dumb-down programming and psychological destabilization to exert control risks mass psychosis and implosion.

They offer easy-reach scapegoats, e.g., unconnected Whites, Blacks, little Jews, Muslims, Mexicans, trans, the poor, but nobody's touching the responsible unassailable amalgamation of Judeo-Zionist oligarchy, Big Tech, global finance, multinational corporations, private/state security, and MIC. At least not until the control grid dims and the force field flickers.

A sinking empire generates severe turbulence, but combining that with the swirling currents of civilizational collapse and peak evil, could create the perfect conditions for a Category-Jupiter hurricane. I believe some call it the "tribulation."

No astroturfed leader with promises of renewed greatness is going to save you. You're on your own, or if you're lucky, you have a friend, associate, significant other, family, circle, or network that is solid. Obviously, financial resources help, but even then, if the ATMs stop working, what's here today could disappear tomorrow. Ultimately, your most valuable resource is you- in your triad of mind, body, and spirit.

But what do I know? I'm just a Jewish Hebrew Israelite who follows the Tao- which has its challenges.

When I put my profile on a dating site, the algorithm found only one match. She was an Icelandic Guatemalan Rosicrucianist who channels Ramtha the 35,000-year-old warrior spirit on the weekends.

Needless to say, it didn't work out. The good news is that under the terms of our post-break up agreement, I get to hang out with Ramtha every other weekend.

Jewish humor without the interest payments. Ha ha ha.

Was that even funny? I'm typing this on my laptop and all I hear is the sound of metaphysical crickets.

Let me close with this.

This constant barrage of psyops can be cognitively destabilizing. Fake AI video pushed us much deeper into Baudrillard's "simulacra and simulation," or what the Hindus call "maya"- the world of illusion. Unless you're a trust fund kid, try not to totally crack up, or you could wind up joining the homeless subway schizos or agreeing to a brain chip. I only mention this because the human mind is not geared for this level of 24/7 toxic digital stimulation overload, and the psyops keep getting more frequent and intense. Rest assured, Pentagon HAL is cooking up some real doozies. Until the next one- good luck pal.
